

If you choose a book of your own, it must be age appropriate! It does not have to be from the list below; the list is only a guide.

Readers of the Round Table Book Club

This September, the 7th grade is going to have their own book club! I will explain more later, but, for now, this will be your assignment for September. You will be reading ONE book from the book list shown at the bottom or a book of your choice. When you return to school, you will need to bring your book as well as your main character! YOU are going to dress up as your main character, come to class in costume (well, bring your costume in a bag) , and share about your life as it relates to the book you just read. Please do not actually buy anything! Use what is in your closet ( or mom and dads) and your imagination only! If you read your book, this will be a walk in the park. No stress! Just come to school the first day, and we will discuss when you will need to bring your book and

All the World is a Stage Book Club

This book club is for the 8th grade class! Shakespeare is just around the corner! ☺ I know.. I know.. You're excited too, but you must wait until September, and, to help you wait, you need to read ONE book from the reading list or a book of your choice. When you return to school in September, we will have a "bagel and a book" breakfast meeting. During this first reader's club meeting, you need to have your novel and be able to discuss it in detail. We will have some fun eating too! I will fill you in on more of the club's details in September. See you in then!

It is Only One Book– Don't Worry!

Hello everyone! I hope you are having a great summer filled with rest and relaxation. This summer, the upper grades are starting something new! We are going to have our first ever summer reading program.

Now don't get excited. You only have to choose ONE book from the reading list below and read it by the time school begins. You see, that is not so bad. While you are resting and relaxing, you need to choose one book from the list below and read it before the first day of school. You must, however, chose a book from the reading list; no other books will be accepted. I have tried to choose a wide variety of books that range from sports to Christian books to science fiction and so on. There is something for everyone, so be sure to your re-search before choosing a book. You want to choose a book that is just right for you!

When you return to school in September, you must have your book with you! Then we will have some fun with what we have read. Yes, I am reading too! See you in September.
